

Tiger lilies, daffodils, roses too,
use photosynthesis, unlike me and you.
They soak up the sun in the heat of the day,
And in the chill of night, they slowly sway.

Photosynthesis is a process,
That all flowers must possess.

