

By: Shayla Keane

You've quenched thirst,

Plummeting deep into the ground and pulling up new life,

Soaring through the atmosphere,

Carried by weightless particles of dust,

You've ventured from peaks on mountains,

Into the middle of oceans,

Powerful and mighty,

You are water.

