I. ACS on Campus – Albuquerque and Los Alamos

The ACS will be holding “ACS on Campus” events in Albuquerque (July 19 and 20) and Los Alamos (July 23 and 24) this month and our Local Section members are invited to participate in several of these events. The “ACS on Campus” events are primarily designed to serve college and university students (undergraduates to post-doctoral) and let them know about the value of membership in the ACS. While the “ACS on Campus” events are typically organized on college and university campuses the large number of students working during the summer at Sandia and Los Alamos National Laboratories make those locations attractive venues for serving our future member base.

Registration for all the mentioned “ACS on Campus” events below will need to be made through the web site listed with each location. As more information becomes available for each event the content on the listed web site will be updated.
