1. The Wednesday morning session went well. Although, if I remember correctly there was one presenter (chem4word?) who was not able to share slides. Of course, I was disappointed because this was the talk I was most interested in seeing. Tue, Apr 27, 2010 2:38 PM  Find...

1. For the most part sound worked well. I remember there being some juggling, but all worked out pretty well for the session I attended. Tue, Apr 27, 2010 2:38 PM  Find...

2. It was a good idea that the questions were repeated by the speaker otherwise they could not be heard. Mon, Apr 26, 2010 8:38 PM  Find...

3. The presentation from Germany was difficult to hear. Mon, Apr 26, 2010 5:21 PM  Find...

Comments from the audience were difficult to hear or not able to hear at all.

3. When the speaker gave permission, recordings (audio + slides) of the talks are available online (these will be available May 1 to those who did not register for the conference). Do you think remote attendance at the symposium offers any advantages over access to the recordings? Create Chart Download

	Response Percent	Response Count
Yes <input type="checkbox"/>	100.0%	7
No <input type="checkbox"/>	0.0%	0

Hide replies Why or why not? 7

1. Remote attendance gives an opportunity to interact with the speaker when the option is presented. It's less likely that I would interact with the speaker if I just watched the recorded sessions. Tue, Apr 27, 2010 2:40 PM Find...

2. The video makes it a more Tue, Apr 27, 2010 1:08 PM Find... compelling experience. Webinars with just sound and slides can be very difficult to concentrate on.

comes closer to attending a live conference
- 4.
Mon, Apr 26, 2010 8:40 PM Find...

Being present at the conference gives one the opportunity of listening into questions and ask questions as well.
- 5.
Mon, Apr 26, 2010 6:04 PM Find...

Because it's live and the chances of me going back and listening to the recordings are slim. it was better to have a scheduled event which I needed to attend.
- 6.
Mon, Apr 26, 2010 5:24 PM Find...

Both - I will not have the audience reaction or my ability to comment and/or ask questions. I'm assuming any sound problem during the remote will not be evident in the recordings. I do think the recordings benefit those in distant time zones.
- 7.
Mon, Apr 26, 2010 5:14 PM Find...

I felt like I was attending the conference along with the other students and faculty members in attendance. I would rather participate in this way than listen later on. This was an incredible experience, one that I valued very highly.

1. time delay from west coast prevented me from viewing afternoon sessions, otherwise I found remote attendance was valuable Mon, Apr 26, 2010 8:57 PM  Find...
2. I would suggest that presentors do not use their own laptop. This created difficulties in viewing what the presenter talked about. Mon, Apr 26, 2010 8:43 PM  Find...
3. Remote attendance to symposia held as part of the conference is a good idea. This symposium was probably too long. People here at work realized I was here and did not take into account that I as attending a symposium. Mon, Apr 26, 2010 5:30 PM  Find...
4. I don't know if I found out about it in advance. Is ACS on Twitter or Facebook? That's sure to improve attendance - by working the PR within the culture. Mon, Apr 26, 2010 5:17 PM  Find...
